Wayne Lonergan Granted Parole

NEW YORK (CP) — Wayne Lonergan, sentenced to a 35-year-to-life term for the 1943 slaying of his actress wife, was released on parole today for deportation to Canada.

Warden Daniel McManis of Dannemora prison in Dannemora, N.Y., said that Toronto-born Lonergan was released this morning in the custody of U.S. immigration authorities and left immediately for Roules Point, N.Y., on the Quebec border, 55 miles southeast of Montreal, where he was to be tried.

McManis said in a telephone interview it was understood that Lonergan was to go to Montreal before taking a plane to Toronto.

McManis said that once Lonergan reached the Canadian border he was free to go anywhere he wished except that the terms of the parole forbade him to return to the U.S.

June 23, Lonergan, 47, last led in the New York State Supreme Court to have his conviction quashed on grounds that he had been coerced into confessing to the slaying of his wife.

His lawyer appealed the ruling and the case is scheduled to be heard in January or February.

COULD RETURN
The prison warden said although terms of the parole forbade Lonergan to return to the U.S., he will be permitted to come to New York if he is required to testify at his appeal.

Lonergan, a member of the RCAF at the time of his arrest in Toronto, was convicted of second-degree manslaughter in 1944.

He and Patricia Burton were married in 1941 and he had been separated for two months at the time of her slaying in her fashionable apartment on Manhattan's east side.

Her fortune, estimated at $1,000,000, was left in trust to their son William, who was 18 months old at the time.

Gemini Blastoff Schedule Set For Saturday Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The opening launch in the Gemini doubleheader held firm to its Saturday blastoff schedule today as astronauts and officials meet to review all aspects of the space shot.

Gemini 7 astronaut Frank Borman and co-pilot, James A. Lovell Jr., confer with the Gemini 6 crew, project officials, contractors and weather experts.

Dr. Charles A. Berry, Gemini flight surgeon, said both crews "are very relaxed" and in good physical condition.

The weatherman held to his prediction that conditions will be satisfactory at Cape Kennedy for the 2:30 p.m. EST blastoff.

Air Force Lt.-Col. Borman and navy Cmdr. Lovell plan to spin around the earth 206 times in 14 days.

Nine days later, Dec. 13, Gemini 6 astronauts navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and air force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford plan to propel into orbit, rendezvous within a few feet of Gemini 7 and fly in formation with the sister craft 185 miles above the earth for six hours. The Gemini 7 flight should be one of the most restful ever undertaken, despite its planned 22-hour duration.

Berry said 10 hours of every day will be set aside to permit the astronauts to sleep. This, he said, should assure them of at least eight hours' sleep.

Gemini 7—for the first time—will have both astronauts sleeping at the same time, in conjunction with day-night cycles at Cape Kennedy.

Berlin's Papers Seek Donations

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin's eight daily newspapers called on the city's people Wednesday to send special Christmas messages to American families who have lost sons in the Viet Nam war. The papers also called for donations to buy medical supplies for the people of South Viet Nam.

MAYOR BUYS JAYCEE APPLES

B.C. apples, the pride of the Okanagan, are the unique gifts being promoted by Kelowna junior chamber of commerce members during their annual apple gift pack campaign. Here, Mayor R. F. Parkinson, an early customer, addresses a box of the fruit while Jaycee John Dunlop looks on. The apples, individually wrapped in the box, are being sold in the district for shipment to friends and relatives anywhere in North America.

Prices, including shipping costs, range from approximately $5 to approximately $7 and Jaycees guarantee delivery on time for Christmas if orders are placed before Dec. 11. Proceeds from the sale go to Jaycee community projects. Last year the junior chamber made about $300 from the project. (Courier photo)

Russian Attitude May Be Shifting

MOSCOW (AP) — British sources said today Russia may reconsider its stand that present Atlantic Alliance discussions on nuclear protection scheme would block a nuclear non-proliferation agreement.

This tentative conclusion was drawn after Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin met for two hours with British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart. Viet Nam also was discussed.

The British informants said Stewart now believes the Russians are re-examining their position. Previously the Russians had indicated, they said, that they must abandon all multi-lateral nuclear schemes in NATO before the Russians would discuss further a treaty to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Nevertheless, the informants added that Stewart, who had three meetings with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko before seeing Kosygin, thought many difficulties remained in achieving a non-proliferation agreement. But the prospects perhaps look a bit less dark than Soviet public statements earlier had indicated, they said.

Rusk Defends CIA Policies
At White House Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk says the Central Intelligence Agency is doing a good job, and not making U.S. government policy.

Rusk spoke Wednesday at a concluding session of the White House conference on international co-operation, then answered questions from some of the 2,000 delegates.

Confronted with a written statement that the CIA "seems to be making policy completely removed from the public and even from the government," Rusk responded:

"The CIA does not make policy and does not initiate actions unknown to the high policy leaders of the government."

Rusk told the conference that every suggestion they put forth will be studied by the government.

"I will even be prepared," he said, "to tell you which of your suggestions already have been tried out on the Russians and have been rejected."

The proposals covered a variety of subjects ranging from women's rights to avoiding war. They were the product of three days of meetings plus months of preparation by 20 committees.

Rusk and Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey represented President Johnson at a final reception at the White House closing the conference Wednesday. The two officials circulated informally to talk to anyone who wanted to buttonhole them.

Rhodesian Crisis Closer To War

Fighter Planes Off To Zambia?

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Wilson announced agreement with President Kenneth Kaunda today to supply RAF fighter planes for the defence of Zambia. He said fighter planes could move in immediately.

He said discussions about ground troops were continuing. Wilson told the Commons: "Agreement has now been reached on all terms and conditions relating to the stationing of RAF planes and the RAF regiment in Zambia. . . . There is nothing to stop immediate entry of planes into Zambia."

Wilson said agreement on the dispatch of planes was reached at talks in Lusaka between Commonwealth Secretary Arthur Bottomley and President Kenneth Kaunda.

Earlier Wilson had declared virtual economic war against Zambia's neighbor, Rhodesia, with a set of sanctions that cut off 80 per cent of British trade with the rebellious colony, ruled by a white minority.

Zambia had asked for British military aid, fearful the Rhodesian government of Ian Smith, which has unilaterally declared its independence, will shut off power to the Zambian copper country. This power is generated from the Kariba dam on the Rhodesian-Zambian border.

"Coast To Coast Bilingualism" Termed Utopian In Nature

MONTREAL (CP) — A Canada bilingual from coast to coast may be "pure utopia" but a start along these lines could be made with the Ottawa area, Quebec notaries said Wednesday.

Officials of the Board of Notaries of the province of Quebec, they urged their idea on the royal commission on bilingualism and biculturalism, rounding out three days of hearings in Montreal.

Led by Denis Pelletier of Montreal, the notaries pointed to the language problem as the big barrier to Canadian unity. "Although the board views Canada-wide bilingualism as utopian, it suggests that it might be possible to begin with a nucleus at the centre of Canada which would be bilingual and bicultural in the legal, economic and social fields," said Mr. Pelletier.

Group harmony also was the theme of remarks made to the commission by the bilingual Quebec Camping Association, Inc.

Young people of differing languages should be given a greater chance to mix in summer camps, said Tony Shoragan of the association's provincial board.

Rev. Leonard Mason, representing the Unitarian churches of Montreal, said churches of all denominations and on both sides

Syrians Suppress Pro-Nasser Coup

ISTANBUL (AP) — Syrian Army tanks suppressed an attempted pro-Nasser coup against strongman Gen. Amin Hafez in Damascus Wednesday night after killing 100 persons, Turkish press reports said today.

Reports from the town of Kilis, near the Turkish-Syrian frontier, said the attempt was made by about 300 army officers and guards siding with President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, but that loyal army tanks intervened.

The reports attributed the news to travellers from Syria who crossed the frontier.

House Fire Claims
Two Alberni Tots

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — Two young children died in a house fire here early today.

Police said they were Sharon Sport, 7, and Darwin Sport, 2. Two other children and a baby-sitter were reported to have fled to safety.

The fire broke out at 2:45 a.m. No other details were immediately available.

MODERATE AFRICAN LEADER FINDS HIMSELF IN THE MIDDLE

LONDON (AP) — President Kenneth David Kaunda of Zambia is a moderate African leader who has put Britain on a diplomatic spot over the rebellion in Rhodesia.

And, at the same time, he may find himself on the spot.

The "fery-nationalist" is demanding that Britain crack down on a rebel on Rhodesia's southern border.

Africans are demanding that Kaunda take stiffer action against the white-breakaway regime of Ian Smith in Rhodesia, and he may have to bend with the pressure or face accusations of playing ball with neo-imperialists.

The showdown for Kaunda may come this week. The 36-nation Organization of African Unity is meeting in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, and Rhodesia is the main issue.

Rhodesia May Destroy Important Power Supply

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Rhodesia has made plans to destroy the Kariba dam power installations if British troops invade, a highly-placed Rhodesian source said today.

The Kariba dam is jointly administered by Zambia and Rhodesia and provides vital electric power to Zambian copper production.

British Prime Minister Wilson said Wednesday Britain was willing to use military force against the breakaway Rhodesian regime if the power from the Kariba dam were cut off.

The Kariba, biggest man-made dam in the world, straddles the Zambezi river dividing Rhodesia and Zambia (formerly Northern Rhodesia). The power and switching installations are on the Rhodesian side.

Premier Smith Petitions Queen To Replace Her Governor

SALISBURY (Reuters) — Premier Ian Smith's breakaway Rhodesian government has asked the Queen to replace the governor of Rhodesia, Sir Humphrey Gibbs, with its own nominee, it was disclosed today.

The nominee is Clifford W. Dupont, appointed chief executive by Smith after last month's unilateral declaration of independence.

Gibbs, the Queen's appointee, has refused to vacate the official governor's residence or bow out of the picture.

Britain regards Gibbs as the only legal authority in Rhodesia since the breakaway government was set up Nov. 11.

Britain has not recognized Smith nor any of his appointees since that time on the grounds that they represent an illegal regime.

United Nations Establishes African Nuclear Free Area

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations took a slight stride toward its goal of complete disarmament Wednesday by giving overwhelming approval to a proposal aimed at making the African continent a nuclear-free zone.

The UN General Assembly's main political committee passed by a 105-10-0 vote, with three countries abstaining, a resolution calling on "all states to respect the continent of Africa as a nuclear-free zone."

Canada, whose preoccupation at the UN is mainly with disarmament and peacekeeping, gave her support to the resolution along with the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union.

France continued to abstain from voting on resolutions dealing with disarmament, and was joined Wednesday by South Africa and Portugal.

Violence Mars
French Campaign

PARIS (AP) — France's presidential election campaign took a violent turn today when about 20 men beat five youths who were slashing posters of President Charles de Gaulle.

Three of the youths were reported in serious condition. They told police they were supporters of rightist candidate Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancourt.

Meanwhile, Jean Monnet, one of the organizers of the European Common Market and a leading proponent of a united Europe, announced his support for Jean Lecanuet, the Centrist candidate in Sunday's election.

Lecanuet is one of six candidates in the campaign which ends Friday.

"I will not vote for Gen. de Gaulle," Monnet said in a statement. "We can no longer have any illusions. (His policies) engage us in the outdated and dangerous path of nationalism."

Kaunda, 41, who neither smokes nor drinks, is a fervent African nationalist, on friendly terms with Britain, who has moved politically along the middle of the road.

Tall and rather stooping, he is the son of an African evangelist.

LED THE MOVEMENT
He led the movement to gain independence for his central African nation—formerly Northern Rhodesia—in October, 1964.

Britain granted independence to the landlocked country of 3,500,000—four times the size of England and Wales—and welcomed Kaunda as the leader of the new nation that became Zambia.

Kaunda has come under some criticism at home and from other newly emerged African nations by people who say he is trying to keep all of the people happy all of the time.

There are only 80,000 whites in Zambia. Kaunda has moved to contain extremist elements in his own United National Independent party and create a non-racial atmosphere. The white residents play an important role in Zambia's economic life.

Kaunda is a master at handling crowds at political rallies. At one he promised Zambia "will become the springboard of pan-Africanism in the fight against South Africa." A few days later: "I see us as the Switzerland of Africa."

He has pledged a policy of non-alignment in the East-West struggle.

Kaunda, with nine children including twins, calls himself Dr. Kaunda, using an honorary doctor of law title conferred on him by Fordham University in the United States in 1963.

Johnson Sees Banner Year

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson told U.S. business leaders today he expects record prosperity without inflation in 1969. He called for wage-price restraint to help achieve that.

In an address prepared for delivery by telephone to the business council, meeting in closed session in Washington, Johnson called for cooperative decisions by industry, labor and government to keep wages and prices in line with federal purposes designed to guard against inflation.

In so doing, he cited the sacrifices of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam, saying:

"We must support them from here as they support each other there. We must equal their sacrifice and uphold their cause."

SUPPORTS PEACE TALKS

He restated his offer of unconditional talks aimed at ending the Viet Nam conflict—an increasingly costly war that has sparked public discussion of potential inflationary pressures in the months ahead.

Mr. Lambert, also chairman of the National Canadian General Motors intra-corporation council, said he "views with alarm" continuation of the strikes which have affected the newspapers—The Star, The Telegram and The Globe and Mail—since July 9, 1964, and BA refineries and warehouses since Sept. 15.

Grounded Freighter Cleared But Seaway Clearing Still Slow

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tugs cleared a grounded freighter from the Welland Canal today, but winds greater than 25 miles an hour still hindered passage of at least 30 ocean-going vessels preparing to enter Lake Ontario on their downward passage through the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Limited movement through the canal was reported.

A seaway spokesman said the locks at Montreal, scheduled to close Dec. 3, now will remain open on a day-to-day basis, weather permitting. Vessels had to clear the Welland by midnight Wednesday to make Montreal by Friday.

The Welland Canal will remain open till Dec. 15.

Some of 36 vessels still in the seaway may have to spend winter as they from home port. During the last 24 hours winds gusting to 25 miles an hour and the grounded freighter hampered of ports to clear the waterway. Twenty-three vessels halted at Cape Vincent, N.Y., the Lake Ontario start of the seaway system because of the winds. Lock 7 at Iroquois, about halfway between Kingston and Montreal, was closed Wednesday after the seal and Elsenhower locks on the American side at Massena, N.Y., halted operations.

Labor troubles also plague seaway shipping as the season closes.

In Montreal, a labor conciliator was scheduled to meet today with representatives of the Canadian Merchant Guild (CMG) and the Lake Carriers Association in an effort to avert what appears to be a mass resignation of first officers on lake vessels.

The guild has been negotiating for about a year with the association for a new contract. Talks broke down last July and weren't resumed until the union requested a federal conciliator

Jury Waiting Instructions In Civil Rights Slaying Case

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—A white federal jury waited for instructions from the judge today before beginning deliberations to decide the fate of three Alabama Ku Klux Klansmen.

Opposing sides rested their cases Wednesday in the trial of Colby Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala.; William Orville Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of Bessemer, Ala.

They are charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of American citizens in the killing of Mrs. Viola Gregg Luzeau, a Detroit mother of five, although she is not specifically named in the indictment.

She was shutting demonstrators from here to Selma after the march to this Alabama capital March 25 when she was killed by shots fired into her car.

In final arguments, the government said testimony from its key witness—Clayton Thomas Rowe Jr.—was backed "by living people, laboratory analysis and physical evidence."

Rowe, who said he had been asked by the FBI to infiltrate the KKK, testified at length Wednesday of how he was with the defendants the night after their car overtook Mrs. Luzeau, and shots were fired into her vehicle.

The wife of Teamsters Union official Anthony Luzeau was mortally wounded by a shot at the base of her brain and her car careened off the road.

Defense counsel Art Hanes, a former Birmingham mayor, attempted to discredit Rowe as a witness in his final arguments, comparing Rowe to Judas Iscariot.

Rowe told the jury earlier he violated a Klan oath by divulging Klan activity.

Wilkins earlier underwent two trials for murder in state courts—one ending in a mistrial and the other resulting in an acquittal. The other two defendants still face state court action.

CHILDREN EXAMINED FOR RADIATION EFFECTS

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Atomic blasts in Nevada in the 1950s are suspected of affecting thyroid glands in a group of Utah children soon to be given medical tests in Salt Lake City.

There are nine children to be examined at the University of Utah's medical centre in a week or so. All have nodules, or small lumps, on their thyroid glands.

Dr. G. D. Carlyle Thompson, Utah's health director, said Wednesday initial studies indicate Nevada atmospheric nuclear explosions in the 1950s might have caused the nodules.

Southeastern Utah, where the children live, is crossed by winds from southern Nevada, where the nuclear tests took place and scientists say radiation from the blast was carried into Utah.

Just A Little For Everybody

A near-capacity audience of 750 people witnessed a touch of everything at the Kelowna Community Theatre Wednesday. The event was Music '63, presented by the Kelowna Senior Secondary School with J. G. McKinley as director.

The Secondary School Senior Symphony opened the program with three numbers, all conducted by students at the school: Songs from "Moussorgsky," conducted by Sharon James; "Rumanian Overture," conducted by Carol Epp; and "Mission Overture," conducted by Carol Thompson.

Dave Friesen followed with a clarinet solo, with accompaniment by Mrs. Joan Gibson.

The Senior Band added five numbers to the program with the presentations of "Walk On The Wild Side," conducted by Ronney Carlson; "Clarinet on the Town," conducted by Dave Friesen; "Romanza," conducted by Bob Donnell; "Trumpet Fests," conducted by Shirley Giggery; and "Ballad," conducted by Mike Griev.

Soloists included Ian Mathie, Shirley Giggery, and Bob Donnell.

A bit of magic and rock and roll featured the second half of the concert as John "Housini" Forsythe and his assistant played their magical trade. The rock and roll was presented by the band.

Also featured in the second half were three folk songs by Haines.

Mozart's Impresario was the presentation of the wind quartet, consisting of Shirley Giggery, David Hood, Ian Mathie and Mike Griev.

The Senior Choir ended the program with "Sing the World," "Now The Day Is Over," "Joshua Fit The Battle of Jericho and Aloha."

They also sang a dedication to the special guest of the evening F. G. T. Marriage, a long time music supporter in Kelowna.

Mr. McKinley described the Friesen, Romanza, conducted by Bob Donnell, Trumpet Fests, conducted by Shirley Giggery, and Ballad, conducted by Mike Griev as "very successful."

"It is very heartwarming to see so many people turn up for our concert," Mr. McKinley said.

"Music can only flourish where there is such active support."

Tire Studs Will Be Legal But Chains Needed In Places

The stud protruding from the tire. The gun drives the stud in recently introduced spiked tire flush against the wall of the tire, has gained a measure of acceptance. One-eighth of an inch eighth inch regulation.

There was some conflict among tire companies as to the amount of damage the tire would impose on roads.

"If every driver used the new tire," said one representative, "roads would have to be repaired from the damage every year."

Another tire company representative said he believed the stud has little effect on highways.

SAME RULES

RCMP also announced foreign drivers would be subject to the same regulations as Canadian drivers.

"We cannot say what action will be taken against drivers using spiked tires with more than the allowed one-eighth inch protruding," said a representative. "But there is no reason to think this situation will be treated in any different manner than our other traffic violations."

Tire companies in Kelowna use a "stud gun" to drive the tungsten-carbide stud into the tire.

Stuffed Collection Target Of Museum, Archives Group

The Okanagan Museum and Archives Association is trying to become the owners of the stuffed birds, animals and animal heads now on loan in the Kelowna museum.

Mrs. Harold Lamoureux, publicity chairman, said the stuffed articles are the property of Edwin Harvey of Victoria.

At a meeting of the directors this week, C. W. Kesteven, vice-chairman, was authorized to negotiate with Mr. Harvey, with the idea the association might become the owner of the collection.

The directors approved a motion to permit the Okanagan Historical Society to store documents in the new museum building.

Oven Fire Out; Mill Worker Hurt

The Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade extinguished a fire in an oven without extensive damage, in the 1900 block on Knox Street Wednesday.

The fire started from deposits inside the oven, a fireman said.

The city ambulance made one trip Wednesday to an accident at a Rutland mill.

Harold Hannebauer, Rutland, a saw operator at the sawmill, had his leg jammed between a haul up chain and the bumper stop.

A. E. McMath, assistant manager said he received "severe flesh and muscle wounds to the calf of one leg" and is resting in hospital. First aid was rendered at the scene by Leo Fielder, plant first aid man.

ADVICE FOR WESTERN WORLD:

Must Help India—Or Go Under

Dr. John K. Friesen told the 124 members attending the Canadian club dinner meeting in Kelowna Wednesday, Canadians have no choice in whether they wish to help India.

"Let us increase the candlepower in India, spreading light among the nation," he said; "let us increase it to the volume of a beacon. If we don't we'll be overwhelmed with problems of population and poverty."

Dr. Friesen is director of university extension at UIC and a year ago studied education in India under an UNESCO grant.

He suggested Canadians can help by encouraging more students to go to India under the CUSO plan (Canadian University Service Overseas), and by having service clubs and organizations here pair with similar groups in India.

"We hope to establish a foundation to exchange women students and social workers and to provide equipment," he said.

Dr. Friesen said there are 1,500,000 university students in India, many of them living in rat-infested basements on $6 a month, and dropping from fatigue during classes. University education is free for girls.

"Canadians should support M.Y.S.O.R.E.," he said, "the teaching of Indians to preserve food."

"Rats destroy $200,000,000 annually, as well as the destruction from heat and diseases—in this country we store wheat, fish, vegetables and fruit, but in India these must be consumed in one day or they rot."

In describing the political, social and economic aspects of the country he said major problems include over-population, a variety of languages and religions, a culture which holds a cow sacred, disease and poor diet.

The Indian government is spending a large portion of its budget on promoting family planning. The future of India depends on its success.

"The population is 400,000,000, increasing 18,000,000 every two years. The population of Canada is 18,000,000."

"There are several hundred tongues, with all news media using the 14 formal ones. People of different tongues do not understand each other."

"There is a mixture of religious, Moslems, Jains, Buddhists (only a few left), Hindus (the largest group, 85 per cent), Christians and Untouchables."

"The government party 'Congress' rules India. They might be called 'the broad centre'. Other parties include the Jana Sangh, (nationalist, extreme rightists) and various socialist parties on the left, including the Communists who are pro-China and pro-Russia. The majority in the country are Communist pro-Russians."

"Politicians must conduct their campaign on an oral basis, because so many are unable to read and have no TV or radio."

"There is hope for India. Evidence of this is found in the right of villagers to vote for municipal officials. Even the Untouchable and Harijans have this right, new in the last six years."

"Hope is also seen in the fact the government has legislation with provisions for the lower classes. Schools have 20 of every 100 seats reserved for the lower classes and tribes."

MANY COWS

"The sacred cows are said to number 215,000,000 and consume $285,000,000 in food in one year. If they could get rid of half of these and raise the level of milk production in the other half, they would be better off economically."

"The food situation is critical. Famine is avoided by food obtained from the U.S., Canada, Australia and other countries."

Dr. Friesen said suggested reforms include a new method of acreage ownership. Now 10 acres is divided and subdivided by generation after generation.

"A new method of credit must be established. Farmers now make two-thirds of their loans for such non-productive purposes as funeral and wedding celebrations," he said.

"They need better seed. Fertilizer must be used on farms, not for walls, floors and fuel. They need more protein in their diet. Villagers eat only to fill their stomachs, and have all the illnesses that follow faulty diet."

COULD VARY DIET

"They could eat eggs, fish, fowl, goats and lambs. The orthodox Hindu eats none of these. The Peace Corps is helping them to develop egg eating habits."

"Socially they are still a caste-ridden society with marriages still arranged by an intermediary and horoscopes are consulted."

"(Hindi did much to raise the level of womanhood, but it's still worth more than a girl. Widowhood is no longer a curse, now they may remarry. Mothers-in-law are a problem in India, as they rule the young bride's home."

ALL NINE LIVES SNUFFED OUT

Albert Motz proudly displays one of the three cougars he shot near the George Elliott school grounds in Winfield Tuesday. Mr. Motz said he had been butchering cattle the day before and thought the scent of the entrails had attracted the animals. They were spotted by a school employee and were all up trees when Mr. Motz, a neighbor, made the kill. The cougar he displays is about 65 pounds, and four feet long, greyish brown in color. Mr. Motz said he will make a rug for his wife with the hide. The secondary school took the other two animals and two pupils hope to have them mounted.

Area Welfare Supervisor Behind Kindergartens

School District No. 23 will ask voters Dec. 11 to approve a money referendum for the construction of kindergartens throughout the district.

Lionel Wace, district supervisor for provincial welfare, said today he approves of the move under the school system because it gives all children an equal opportunity.

"Economically favored families can provide their children with this enriched preparation for Grade 1," Mr. Wace said.

"I believe this preparation should become part of an overall educational program, available to all children who need it."

"By including children from families with lower incomes, the opportunity for a good start in learning, becomes equal for all."

"In our present day way of life, there is increasing emphasis put on educational opportunity and pressures for individuals to succeed. Society has an obligation to meet these needs as early in the child's life as possible."

"Kindergartens provide an experience in learning what is lacking in many families of all income brackets. The growth of the child can be accelerated through attendance at kindergarten. Not to be overlooked is the rest tired mothers may have with one less at home."

"Another important role a kindergarten plays is in the early detection of social problems. The trained teacher can detect physical and emotional symptoms a parent might miss."

"She can direct the parent to the advice and treatment needed and thus play an important part in the child's future development," Mr. Wace said.

Sydney Saunders was elected president of the Westbank Yacht Club at the annual meeting held this week on board the Pendol.

Mr. Saunders replaced Allan McLeod who held the position for the past two years.

Phillip Wakefield was elected vice commodore and Derek Parker, Rear commodore.

Commodore McLeod reported a successful year for the club with the opening of the renovated MV Pendol as the new clubhouse.

Membership increased from 34 in February to 246, he said.

"Future plans include an extension of freshwater facilities and dredging of the basin. We hope to increase wharfing space and berths and construct a new ramp."

The next activity of the club is the Snowball Frolic Dec. 10. Reservations for the New Year's dance must be made before Dec. 10, the commodore said.

PROFIT

The treasurer's report showed the club's assets at $22,112 and an excess of revenue over disbursements of $3,303.

Directors elected for a two year term were Nelson Reece, Basil Jennings, Dudley Pritchard and Jack Scott. Those elected for one year are Mr. McLeod, Gordon Stuart, Leo Donnell and Royce Barrett.

Good Start Here For Safety Week

Safe driving week, got off to a good start in Kelowna with no accidents reported to the RCMP in the past 24 hours. The week runs from Dec. 1 to 7.

The Kelowna and District Safety Council today urged all motorists to examine their driving habits this week.

"On Remembrance Day we pause to think of those who gave their lives for their country," H. C. Langton, executive member, said. "During safe driving week, let us remember those who died needlessly in accidents, and ask if this could happen to us?"

"We are worshipping speed and combining a lethal mixture of gas and alcohol."

"There is a shocking lack of mutual respect between pedestrians and drivers."

"We must stop these dangerous habits. Drinking and driving cannot be mixed. We must slow down and live and respect the rights of others."

"Let us try it, today, tomorrow and all through safe driving week, then take stock of our individual habits. Remember the life you save may be yours," Mr. Langton said.

FILM SHOWING

Magistrate M. White today invited the public to view a film in council chambers on highway accidents.

The film will be shown by the RCMP at 8 p.m. tonight.

A special invitation has gone out to the three car clubs, Checkers, Car Deans and the Shocks.

"Also attending will be city council and traffic advisory board members and anyone interested," Magistrate White said.

"The film depicts faults in driving and actual scenes of accidents on the highway."

"The film is impressive and will leave you with a profound respect for traffic rules."

"I urge everyone to see it. It is an education for all of us, a lesson in how to drive safely," Magistrate White said.

It is a department of highways film and has been shown to secondary school students in the district.

Other ideas the Teen Towners are working on include a bawdy sale and making candles for street sales.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

With BETHEL STEELE

Saturday evening in the Community Theatre, the Okanagan Valley Symphony Orchestra will present the first of three valley wide concerts which are, for the sake of the musicians involved a Christmas present to community music lovers.

For some reason there has been a great deal of criticism by the public as to why the orchestra found it necessary to offer this coming concert as an addition to the big concert in the spring. The attitude has been that the players could not be ready.

My answer to this form of rationalization by those usual supporters of music in our city is, that the orchestra is ready to the point that all amateur orchestras are ever ready, is that the players are all working hard; practices have been knowledgeable with Lt. Campin's usual artistry and teaching ability at work and the program a simple one with only the Mozart Hasono Concerto a challenge to the players. And that is not too great because the orchestra is rich in strings for which the concerto is scored in company with two oboes and two horns.

The orchestra instrumentation possesses the two oboes, has one horn with the first horn provided by Lt. Campin, courtesy the Royal Canadian Engineers Band, Chilliwack.

AT THIS TIME of the year when we are preparing to celebrate the birth of the Christ Child, this lovely orchestral music represents the creative act in its most beautiful form, in that Mozart's music seems to have been something that came to him, not through association or imitation, but spontaneously, and, as it were, without his knowledge. His music came forth full grown in all its lovely melodic and passionate perfection.

THE BAROQUE CONCERTO is easily followed by the listener. The themes are clear and simply stated and the solo instrument weaves a transparent melodic filigree of sound possessing the warmth of its own sonorous tonal quality.

Sgt. Ronald Pascoe, principal bassoonist of the Royal Canadian Engineers Band and one time principal of the Royal Artillery Band, will be the Soloist.

This year because of a smaller local instrumentation in some orchestra choirs Lt. Campin is adding two first violins, one French horn, a string bass with Harry Kirk of Grand Forks commencing as principal Cellist. As Mr. Kirk stated he has played all over the world and studied in Winnipeg with the well known Canadian Cellist and teacher, Frederick Dolman. This year we will also have the pleasure of hearing a professional percussionist from the RCEB.

THE SUITE FROM Handel's Water Music is the other principal offering by the orchestra, again taking advantage of the large string instrumentation which in itself is a phenomenon in regards to amateur orchestras. The instrumentation is usually the other way . . . an overabundance of winds with a paucity of strings.

It is also remarkable that a large percentage of the strings are from our own Kelowna high school string classes . . . and the orchestra "does play in tune or at least it did at last hearing by this column . . . so rest quietly all you Doubting Thomases."

I was taken very much to task recently for asking for . . . "public support" . . . by the adult population of our community for the orchestra with the statement that one did not "support" music.

THIS IS SPLITTING HAIRS and I shall continue to ask for public support and more so particularly in this case since our Kelowna executive for the orchestra has departed from the beaten path by inviting all our schools to see that those children most deserving are in the audience Saturday night with a reminder that student cards will take the place of the usual tickets.

In other words the young people are welcome, free of charge.

Teen Town will be in attendance. Our thanks to Ron Wilkinson, the mayor, Miss Gayle Odlund, her deputy mayor, Christine Cameron and the Teen Town Council.

Industry Points Way To Canada's Growth

In the last six years Canadian industry has provided 1,000,000 new jobs for Canadians while boosting the gross national product beyond the $50,000,000,000 mark.

The important thing here is that industry has provided the jobs and the growth. It is another way of saying that free enterprise has done it; that this is another achievement of the private enterprise system—planning, investment, risk-taking—that has built Canada's high standard of living over the years.

It would be truthful to say this has been achieved despite government action and, similarly, despite government lack of action.

In any event, the six-year accomplishment of Canadian industry serves to underline that government's real function is not to encroach on private enterprise but rather to guide while maintaining in the country the proper conditions for endeavor.

It is from a healthy and expanding Canadian economy that the dollars come to meet the demands of welfare, education and the public services Canadians have grown to expect.

So, in the end, the responsibility for a greater Canada lies with the workers themselves and the captains of industry, always provided these workers and planners are left sufficiently free in their sphere of action to get the job done.

The Service Vote

(Port Arthur News Chronicle)

During the election campaign when John Diefenbaker was speaking in places that are heavily dependent on military and naval establishments he repeatedly declared that morale in the armed services had reached a dismally low level due to the government's integration policy. It is not clear how the Conservative leader came by this information as service personnel are scattered in bases in many parts of the world and in ships plying the oceans. Moreover, all service chiefs have indicated they are highly satisfied with the integration program.

The armed services vote has now been counted and it would appear that our soldiers, sailors and airmen are not as bitter about integration as the Conservative chief would have Canadians believe. Their votes gave two more seats to the Liberals and 63.3 per cent of all the ballots cast went to the Liberals as against 23.5 to the Conservatives. If the morale is low, the service people were evidently not looking to the Conservatives to improve it.

The result of the service vote gives the Liberals 131 seats in the next Parliament. A Quebec independent has offered to support Prime Minister Pearson, raising the total to 132. This is only two short of the 134 needed to provide a majority of one after appointment of the Speaker.

The failure of the Liberals to gain the outright majority they sought has led to some strange interpretations of the election result. In some quarters it is now being described as almost a Conservative triumph. Mr. Diefenbaker and some of his followers have returned to Ottawa glowing with high spirits and suggesting that the Liberals should resign and let them take over. At present the Liberals have 131 seats and the Conservatives 97, so any talk of a hand-over is nonsense. After the 1957 election, Mr. Diefenbaker had 112 seats, 15 more than he now holds. Yet after a few months he found it impossible to carry on and called an election without suffering a defeat in the Commons.

Undoubtedly the November 8 election result was a rebuff for the Liberals by the public which had become disillusioned by too frequent reports of scandal and corruption in high places and resentful of having to reduce still one more election it did not want. Yet by the widest stretch of imagination the outcome cannot be construed as a mandate for Mr. Diefenbaker who, in the past five elections, has only once been able to equal the number of seats won by the Liberals in last week's election and the one before that.

Mr. Diefenbaker's big moment came in 1958 when he scored his history-making triumph, winning 208 seats. He had a full term in office with an immense majority, but his performance left the Canadian people unsatisfied. With the country and parliament in the palm of his hand he could not compile a record of achievement that would bring him even the slimmest of majorities in subsequent elections.

In the 1962 election, the Conservatives won only 116 seats; in 1963 they got 95 and in 1965 they managed to put together 97. None of these totals comes close to the 131 seats the Liberals took last week.

If the results on November 8 constituted a rebuke to Mr. Pearson, the outcome of the last three elections clearly shows that the country as a whole has even less confidence in Mr. Diefenbaker. The Liberal setback lies in the fact that they did not get the majority they sought or that had been predicted for them by the pollsters. The plain facts are, however, that they did a lot better than the Conservatives and have done so for the last three elections.

If Mr. Diefenbaker will only remember this when Parliament reassembles there is a chance that the House will be able to get on with its work, as the people undoubtedly want it to. But if Mr. Diefenbaker can continue to convince himself that he somehow won the election by taking 34 seats fewer than his adversaries, then the outlook is going to be bleak indeed.

"LET ME PROTECT YOU" Five Who Oppose De Gaulle Really Looking To Future

PARIS (CP)—The five candidates who oppose Charles de Gaulle for the French presidency are being forced to look beyond the election.

None of the five can really hope to stop the general's bid for a second seven-year term as president. Their only alternative is to build toward the day when de Gaulle is gone from the scene.

Three of the candidates—representing the left, the extreme right and the centre of French politics—are regarded as "serious." The other two are being dismissed as lacking broad support.

The presidential election next Sunday will have a decisive effect on the future of French politics.

The opposition has been frustrated so far in its attempts to maintain party loyalty because de Gaulle attracts support from every sector of the voting public. His critics have invented a catch phrase, "l'après-gaullisme" (post-gaullism), to describe the period when de Gaulle has gone and party lines fall back into shape.

HOPE FOR SECOND VOTE
The dream of the opposition is that de Gaulle will not get an absolute majority Dec. 5, making a second ballot necessary Dec. 19. In that case, only the two leading candidates would be matched.

Not even the wildest dreamers can foresee de Gaulle being beaten in the second vote, but the general's critics are sure the need for a second ballot would hurt his prestige and make him more "reasonable."

Several leading opposition candidates have pledged to press for political reform, to be held before elections are held for France's National Assembly, where de Gaulle's supporters now hold a small majority. Such elections are due within two years and there is speculation that de Gaulle — if re-elected — will call them next spring.

The opinion polls which give the 75-year-old general a firm lead over his combined opposition have established Francois Mitterand as the most likely runner-up.

Mitterand, an athletic 49-year-old lawyer, has managed the rare feat of getting both Socialist and Communist party backing for his candidacy. He has also attracted some radicals, several of the trade union federations and a few militant women's groups.

A politician with 20 years in the National Assembly and Senate—including 12 separate cabinet posts in the post-war Fourth Republic—Mitterand is a sharp-eyed professional, a strong speaker and a firm organizer. He is a formidable opponent.

for de Gaulle—on paper. In fact, there is no guarantee that any of the groups officially supporting Mitterand can deliver their members' votes when de Gaulle is on the ballot.

Several young Socialist organization have protested against the Popular Front—a union of Socialists and Communists. The once powerful Communist party, whose membership has waned in recent years, is unlikely to obtain absolute discipline for Mitterand after the Eastern bloc countries openly welcomed de Gaulle's candidacy.

Campaigning in North American style, Mitterand uses helicopters and fast cars to dash from public meeting to press conference to factory gate.

He supports the repeal of anti-birth control laws and denounces de Gaulle's decision to build an independent French nuclear force. He is pro-European and says he would reopen Common Market negotiations. If elected, he would dissolve the Assembly and seek a sympathetic majority.

WAS SECOND CHOICE
The other two major candidates are Jean Lecanuet, of the centre and extreme right winger Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour.

Lecanuet is the "nice guy" of the campaign. And he may prove Leo Durocher's baseball maxim about nice guys finishing last.

Lecanuet, 45, a former senior civil servant who left the presidency party (MRP) to enter the campaign, is a serious, intelligent family man. But he only came into the campaign when the middle-of-the-road parties failed to persuade former premier Antoine Pinay to run.

Despite a Kennedy-like smile and a youthful image, Lecanuet has been hurt by his own second-hand role and by the defection of numerous centre-party figures to de Gaulle's side—including Pinay.

Lecanuet has had little time to build a meaningful platform or a substantial personal following. His supporters have nightmares about the possibility that he will trail Tixier-Vignancour in the vote, damaging the centre's position in any post-election realignment.

Tixier-Vignancour, a 54-year-old lawyer and self-styled "candidate of the national liberal opposition," has been campaigning long and strenuously. His mid-summer caravan through France's beach resorts has been followed by a series of packed public meetings.

CALLS FOR AMNESTY
"Monsieur T-V" as he is called, demands an amnesty for former French "patriots" who fought against independence for Algeria, recalls the Vichy wartime regime with something close to nostalgia, and attacks de Gaulle, foreign aid and communism with equal vigor.

"Enough of this international demagoguery with France's money!" he shouts. And his well-orchestrated campaign has been attracting enough support to worry the more moderate conservatives.

The other two candidates are universally regarded as also-rans.

Senator Pierre Marcellin, 55, whose six feet seven inches gives him an advantage in height even over the towering de Gaulle, has been campaigning since April but is still almost unknown. A moderate, he has been mainly addressing youth groups—whose members are often not old enough to vote—and sparsely attended press conferences.

Marcel Barbu, 58, an 11th-hour surprise candidate, is the father of 11 children, a former deputy and something of a pioneer in labor and housing programs. He has no official party support and has been accused of becoming a candidate so he can get national-wide publicity for his social ideas.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Common Failing In Older Bodies

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOJNER

Dear Sir: I am in my late 70's and have to get up frequently at night to urinate. People my own age say it is gland trouble and that I must have an operation on the prostate. I was of the opinion that all old people had to get up at night like I do. If the operation is not serious, how long would it take me to recover?—M.J.

Age alone doesn't cause your trouble, although conditions leading to frequency of urination are more common as we get older.

Enlargement or disease of the prostate is, to be sure, rather prevalent, but sometimes kidney disease causes frequency, too, so let your doctor decide what is wrong. Prostate surgery usually requires 10 to 14 days in the hospital.

Dear Dr. Mojner: How successful is surgery for cancer of the prostate gland? My dad is in his 60's. Anything encouraging would mean a lot to him.—B.G.L.

There's a good deal that is encouraging, and for this we can be thankful, since cancer of the prostate is the commonest form of malignancy in the male.

A specific answer to your question isn't easy, because the degree of success depends on the circumstances. When the cancer is confined to the gland itself, and the entire cancer thus is removable, results are consistently excellent.

If the cancer has extended to involve other areas, complete removal may not be possible. Even then, however, there are other procedures—radiation, X-ray, radium or cobalt; hormone therapy; and castration, which by altering the hormonal activity of the body retards progress of the malignancy.

While complete removal of the malignant tissue is to be desired, when that is impossible the other methods afford very helpful measures of success.

Dear Dr. Mojner: I have an ingrown toenail and wonder how to get rid of it. My doctor said surgery, but surgery sounds very involved. The nail does not hurt except when pressure is applied to it. Is it dangerous to let it go? I have had it for eight months.—MR. A.W.

It's surgery if you have a mole removed or even part out a splinter, so don't let fear of a word (s-u-r-g-e-r-y) prevent you from stopping the pain in your toe.

When you say it doesn't hurt except when pressure is applied, you are sort of trying to kid me. Aren't you, now? Because unless it hurt quite a bit, you wouldn't have gone to your doctor, and if it weren't the beginning of a lot more pain, your doctor wouldn't say "surgery."

Ingrown nails, treated early, often can be corrected by edging bits of cotton under them until they gradually grow out straight and no longer dig into the flesh.

But if the process has gone too far, the only sensible solution is minor surgery to remove the offending portion of the nail.

Note to H.A.: Sodium (whether in ordinary salt or other forms) is present naturally in so many foods that its entire avoidance is doubtless impossible. In fact, a certain amount of sodium is necessary for health. For practical purposes then, we should think of a LOW-sodium or LOW-salt diet, but not a NO-salt diet. Just avoid (a) salt, whether at the table or in cooking; (b) any salted foods, which includes all sorts of preserved meats; (c) any food or preparation when the label says it contains sodium. This would include certain flavoring compounds, tenderizers, "flavoring" agents.

CANADA'S STORY

Red River Fleet Opened Up West

By BOB BOWMAN

Despite Lord Selkirk's colonizing efforts in the early 1800's, and the influx of fur traders of the Northwest and Hudson's Bay Companies, Fort Garry (Winnipeg) only had a population of 211 in 1829. Some hardy pioneers got to Manitoba in canoes from Hudson Bay. The only other Canadian route was by boat to Fort William, and then overland to Fort Garry; a tough trip.

Things changed when the Americans built a railway from Chicago to St. Paul. Then Canadians were able to travel from Fort William to Chicago by ship, take the train to St. Paul, then stage-coach to Breckenridge, and stermwheeler down the Red River to Fort Garry. The population grew from 211 to 10,000 in 10 years, and homes, trading posts, saloons and saw mills grew like mushrooms.

The Red River sternwheelers changed the outlook of the west. They brought thousands of settlers. Trade in 1870 was averaging $10,000,000 a year. The run down the river to Winnipeg was picturesque. Lookouts on the banks of the ships kept warning the water for depth, and constantly chanted "mark team" "mark three" or "no bottom" as the case might be. The sternwheelers had to stop several times a day so the crew could go on shore and cut logs for fuel, although gradually the Indians living along the river bank got into the business of supplying the wood.

The death knell of the river trade came in 1878 when S.S. Selkirk carried enough rails for 160 miles of track to be laid from Winnipeg to the border. In October it pushed a barge ahead of it carrying the "Countess of Dufferin," the first railway engine in the west, and which is now on display in Winnipeg. On Dec. 2, 1878 railway service was opened from Winnipeg to the border, and the days of the Red River steamers were finished.

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dec. 2, 1805

The French armies led by Napoleon defeated the combined armies of the Austrian and Russian emperors 160 years ago today—in 1805—at the battle of Austerlitz, one year to the day after Napoleon crowned himself emperor. It was the first great battle of his career in which he was supreme commander, and it took Austria out of the anti-French coalition for four years. After the defeat at Trafalgar—the same year, Napoleon gave up attempts to rival British sea power and turned his attention to the conquest of the whole continent of Europe.

1822 — The Monroe Doctrine was proclaimed.

1848 — The British Parliament empowered the Canadian Parliament to amend the British North America Act.

First World War
Fifty years ago today—in 1915—General Joseph Joffre was appointed commander-in-chief of the French armies; the organization of the 3rd Canadian Division began; Britain made further gains in the German Camerons.

Second World War
Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940—the Canadian "baby budget" barred luxury imports from the United States; Bristol was heavily bombed at night; the British destroyer Sturdy foundered off the Scottish coast.

One man told the truth when he said to a girl, "You are the only girl in the world who thrills me." That man was Adam.

A lot of hard things are said about fools, but this world would be a dreary place without them.

U.S. To Harden Position On Supplying Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has hardened its policy on the disposal of surplus food, largely due to dwindling reserves of wheat stocks and other edibles and a mounting supply of foreign currency that cannot be used.

U.S. authorities, making this known today, said the new policy will affect India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic and about seven other countries designated as currency-excess countries by the U.S. treasury.

The designation means the United States has accumulated far more local currency from these countries than it can possibly use in the immediate future.

NOW BEING USED

The new policy, already in progress, is to receive virtually all payments later in dollars rather than in rupees and dollars. Among the other excess-currency countries are Ceylon, Burma, Guinea, Israel, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia.

U.S. food authorities say the surplus food situation has changed sharply to a point where the surplus no longer is building up.

There have been rumblings in Congress that the United States should be thinking about strategic reserves of grain with the escalating war situation in Southeast Asia.

Although the dollar inventory of U.S. surplus commodities is about the same at $4,500,000,000, the composition of the stocks has changed markedly. Tobacco and cotton alone account for 40 per cent of the inventory, officials said.

Thanksgiving Toll On Roads Up To 615

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic accidents killed 615 persons across the United States during the four-day U.S. Thanksgiving holiday weekend, a record high for the fall festive period. The toll was 11 per cent higher than the total for the weekend last year when 554 persons died in accidents.

Private Enterprise "Cure" Seen For CN By Expert

OTTAWA (CP)—A commerce professor from Queen's University who specializes in transportation economics said Tuesday there is nothing wrong with the CNR that private enterprise couldn't cure.

Prof. J. L. McDougall said the publicly-owned railway, a cheap money-loser, ought to be sold to private interests to remove it from the political pressures responsible for burdening it with money-losing services.

He told the Ottawa branch of the newly-organized Canadian Transportation Research Forum he had been trying to interest investment houses in a proposal to offer to buy the CNR for $50,000,000 down and the balance in debt bonds, but had no takers.

Prof. McDougall, 65, argued the privately-owned CPR has been able to operate profitably in competition with the larger government line solely because of the spur of private enterprise.

"The CPR has a gun behind them," he added. The same kind of gun could turn the CNR into a money-maker.

Prof. McDougall appeared before the Turgeon royal commission on transportation 20 years ago as a paid witness for the CPR.

He said the CNR now has a "first class executive core" that is doing the best job it can under government control. But it just wasn't possible for them to turn out the same efficient product because of the problems inherent in public ownership.

His purchase offer would involve only the CNR system west of Quebec. The Maritime section would be left in government hands, apparently because even the professor cannot see a chance of turning a profit in that region.

Three senior executives from CNR headquarters in Montreal were among the audience of about 60 civil servants and transportation specialists.

India's Worst Drought Of Century May Result In Widespread Famine

NEW DELHI (AP)—India's worst drought in 100 years has created the prospect of serious food shortages and the likelihood many areas will not have enough drinking water for man or beast, Food Minister Chidambaram Subramaniam advised Parliament today.

Subramaniam said the country's only hope of preventing widespread starvation was to continue huge imports of grain from the United States.

Despite food shortages, some areas may have to abandon cultivation to preserve drinking water, the minister said.

Subramaniam made it clear India's hungry millions will have to do with even less food. He proposed several emergency programs to ensure the health and well being of various "priority" groups, including children, pregnant women, important milk cows and work animals.

DISTRIBUTE VITAMINS

These include the distribution of nutritional biscuits and vitamin tablets to children, special provision of food and milk to expectant mothers, the organization of "cattle camps" where water buffalo, dairy cows and work animals can be assured of food and water, and teams of physicians and supply dumps of medicine to cope with any epidemics resulting from the famine.

Subramaniam said India produced a record 88,400,000 tons of food grains last year and anticipated a production of 92,000,000 tons of wheat and rice this

COULD GET WORSE

The outlook is for a shortage of 1,000,000 to 2,000,000 tons. The situation could be much worse if rain for the winter crops does not come.

Subramaniam said because of the shortage of foreign exchange, India cannot buy food abroad but he hopes "stable" arrangements can be made for wheat imports. This was a reference to Washington's refusal to sign a long-term agreement.

The United States has indicated it wants assurances that the Indians are doing all possible to ensure self-sufficiency.

The United States is sending India 800,000 tons of wheat a month and Indian ports are unable to handle much more, in part because of the sometimes cannot get wheat to short areas while surpluses build on the coast.

Subramaniam called for a government-run distribution and market system, saying hoarders and profiteers would take over otherwise.

Two Tommies Still AWOL

OTTAWA (CP)—Two of 10 British soldiers who went absent without leave in Canada last summer still are at large, a defence department spokesman said today.

One is from the Sherwood Foresters, the other from the Queen's Own Surrey Regiment. Some 1,500 British soldiers participated in summer manoeuvres at Camp Gagetown, N.B., and Camp Wainwright, Alta.

Six went "over the hill" from Wainwright. By mid-November eight had given themselves up or had been picked up by the RCMP or the Canadian Army Provost Corps and were returned to Britain by RCAF transport planes.

Pretty Ceremony Followed By Reception At Golf Club

A blue carpet, blue tipped white chrysanthemums and white and gold candles decorated St. Paul's United Church on Friday, Nov. 26, at 5:30 p.m. when Kilda Visser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Visser of Kelowna, became the bride of Douglas William Hecko, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Hecko of Kelowna.

Rev. R. S. Leitch officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Jean Gibson provided the organ music.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride wore a floor-length gown of white tulle with a long train and a long, flowing veil. Her shoulder-length skirt featured a long, flowing train, and holding her shoulder-length veil of white tulle in place was a large blue flower embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red and white sweetheart roses tied with long white satin streamers, and for something borrowed, something blue, she borrowed her sister's pearl earrings and wore a blue garter.

Acting as maid of honor was Miss Mariene Malen, the bridesmaid was Miss Margo Visser, and the charming young flower girl was Lisa Visser. Their floor-length dresses of teal blue tulle were similar in style to that of the bride except for her train, and their headpieces were matching bows of teal blue tulle. They carried bouquets of blue tipped white chrysanthemums.

David Robert Hecko of Princeton acted as best man and the ushers Lee Eldstrom and Garth Stevenson of Kelowna.

At the reception, held at the Kelowna Golf and Country Club following the ceremony, the mother of the bride received wearing a sheath dress of light blue tulle with a long train, and the charming young flower girl was Lisa Visser. Their floor-length dresses of teal blue tulle were similar in style to that of the bride except for her train, and their headpieces were matching bows of teal blue tulle. They carried bouquets of blue tipped white chrysanthemums.

The toast to the bride, proposed by Robert Cohen, was ably answered by the groom and David Hecko gave the toast to the bridesmaids.

Centring the white lace tablecloth on the bride's table was a three-tiered wedding cake, resting in white tulle and topped with lily of the valley. Over the table hung a large white bell, and two tall golden towers in crystal holders flanked the cake.

Tragedy Strikes At Home

SEATTLE (AP) — She knew something was wrong the moment she awoke.

She roused her husband. "It's 8 o'clock," she said, "what about the baby?"

The baby, a healthy three-month-old, had been waking her parents at 6:45 each morning as regularly as an alarm clock.

The mother had checked the infant at 8 a.m., found her sleeping, and had gone back to bed.

Now, hearing nothing, she checked again. The baby was cold and was not breathing.

Frantically, the mother called the fire department to send a crew with a resuscitator, but the infant could not be revived.

The child was pronounced dead a short time later at a hospital.

Dr. Gale Wilson, King County autopsy surgeon, told the parents he saw many such cases every year. The death would be entered as acute pneumonia.

Doctors didn't know what brought it on, but whatever it was it was terribly fast.

Some 15,000 such deaths occur in the United States each year.

In the Seattle area, eight bereaved couples have formed the Washington Association for Sudden Infant Death Study. Thanks in part to their efforts, an ambitious research project is under way to determine what causes what doctors call the sudden death syndrome, but commonly known as "crib deaths."

STARTED WITH CARD
The association got its start with a card of sympathy. Mrs. Francis R. Jones, a Seattle policeman's wife, sent it to state Senator and Mrs. Fred H. Dore, Mrs. Jones did not know the paper that they had found their youngest child dead in his crib on the same day she and her husband lost a baby in the same way.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Dore became acquainted. Then Mrs. Dore heard of another crib death and wrote a note of sympathy to the parents. A few couples got together and held a meeting, with a pediatrician as a speaker.

They learned that pathologists in various parts of the country had been doing research on possible causes of the sudden unexplained deaths.

But most studies were hampered, the parents were told, by being limited to autopsies performed in coroner's offices.

With the help of Dore, a Dore bill was put through the 1963 Washington legislature. It changed the coroner law so that cases of sudden infant death could be referred to the University of Washington medical school for autopsy.

Coroner's Job Suits Her Fine

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — A shapely blonde coed has started a three-year term as coroner with visions of running for the United States Congress in the future.

"This is an ideal political office for a college girl," beamed blue-eyed Janet M. Bond prior to being sworn in as Mercer County coroner. "Already I've met a lot of people I wouldn't have otherwise."

Classmates introduce her to their parents as "My friend, the coroner."

On her first night home for the U.S. Thanksgiving holiday she was invited to address a local boy scout troop.

She received a bundle of mail from around the country, including congratulatory letters from prominent national politicians.

Janet became something of a celebrity recently by polling 54 votes for a landslide victory over 54 other write-in candidates.

She clinched the election with a mimeographed letter campaign from Mount Holyoke College in Massachusetts urging the people back home in Princeton to add interest to their election day by casting a write-in ballot for her.

One of her major preoccupations since the election has been trying to figure out just what the coroner's job entails.

A 125-year-old state law requires her to bury shipwrecked people who wash up on the shore, sell their clothes at public auction and watch for more ships.

Her father, a physicist, has been assisting in the research.

FATHER HAS FUN
"He's been having more fun than anybody in the world reading all the law books and uncovering all kinds of minute trivia," she said.

"If the shipwrecked victim is found nude, I have to provide the grave clothes. But I'm not allowed to spend more than one dollar for them."

For the most part, she confided, coroners in New Jersey don't do anything; particularly in Mercer County where the only shipwreck could be on the shore of the Delaware River where ships seldom pass by. For some time Mercer County's governing officials have tried to persuade the legislature to erase the coroner's office from the books on the grounds that it is outdated and the county medical examiner has taken over the only essential duties. But the title remains — and enough voters are aware of the position to keep it alive.

Although the position pays no salary, has no real duties and no patronage, Janet, a 21-year-old political science major, doesn't discount its political value.

"I think deep down every political science student would like to be in Congress some day," she said. "One way to get there is by winning elections."

Diary Withdrawn From Publication

LONDON (Reuters) — A satirical book disguised as a diary of Mrs. Mary Wilson, wife of the British prime minister, has been withdrawn from publication under threat of legal action.

The book, containing articles from the satirical magazine Private Eye, was due to appear Monday. Until the withdrawal Thursday night, 12,000 copies were planned.

On the cover is a photograph of Prime Minister and Mrs. Wilson on vacation in the Scilly Isles. One of their sons, Giles, 17, is sitting in a dinghy next to his mother. The caption says: "She reveals all."

Wilson's lawyers said the authors had been threatened with a court injunction against publication. A statement by both sides said the book was withdrawn after friendly talks.

The publishers agreed the book's presentation might have implied it was written by Mrs. Wilson or with her authority.

A FASHION HOUSE BUT SANS CLOTHES

PARIS (AP) — The fashion house of Carven may have no clothes for its showing of spring fashions next month. The whole spring collection was stolen Tuesday when someone made off with a van in which the suits, dresses and coats had been loaded for the trip from the workshop to the Carven show room on the Champs Elysees.

"It's frightful," said Mme. Carven. "In 20 years in this business, nothing like this has ever happened to me."

Police said the thief was probably just after the truck and might abandon the clothes.

If he doesn't, said Mme. Carven, she will have to show buyers the press drawings of the collection when the Paris houses unveil their spring line in mid-January. She said there isn't time to duplicate the missing garments.

Ex-Model Faces Kidnap Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former high fashion model, accused of taking her young daughter from New York City, is free on her own recognizance today pending an extradition hearing Dec. 24.

Mrs. Doreen Murray, 30, once known as the world's highest-paid fashion model, was arraigned Tuesday on a fugitive warrant based on her husband's complaint that she kidnapped their daughter, Allison, 7.

Mrs. Murray's estranged husband, Alan Murray, 39, a special investigator for the U.S. department of immigration, contends Doreen and a John Doe abducted the girl from his Staten Island, N.Y., home last Nov. 22.

Murray contends his wife surrendered custody of the child when he obtained a Mexican divorce.

Her lawyer, however, says she does not consider herself divorced by this action and filed a divorce suit here Friday alleging cruelty and wilful neglect.

Mrs. Murray also obtained a temporary order restraining her husband from removing their daughter from Los Angeles County or from her custody pending a hearing in superior court Dec. 13.

Wife Of Alcoholic May Need As Much Treatment As Spouse

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The wife of an alcoholic may need treatment for emotional illness almost as much as her spouse, the doctor said, but she added: "Some wives of alcoholics may need group therapy for their own neurotic problems or counseling by 'Al-Anon,' a group for spouses of AA members, or both."

Dr. Ruth Fox, medical director of the National Council on Alcoholism Incorporated, said so in a talk prepared for the 18th clinical convention of the American Medical Association.

She said alcoholism affects up to 6,000,000 Americans, mostly men, and is the fourth most important health problem — ranking only behind heart disease, mental illness, and cancer.

Urging physicians to give thought to treating the alcoholic's family while treating the primary patient himself, Dr. Fox said:

"The wife of an alcoholic may seem on the surface to be just an innocent victim of her husband's drinking, but a number of studies have shown her to be often almost as neurotically ill as her husband."

ANN LANDERS

Wives Are Entitled To Share Of Income

Dear Ann Landers: The question is simply this: "To fish or not to fish is more important than the money. If you the supermarket. I mean from really needed spending money the wallet of a stingy husband. you'd be spending it, not saving it."

For years I lived like a pauper. I had to beg my husband for every extra dime. It was always, "Wait till next week" or "I'm a little short right now—can't spare it."

One day I helped myself to $2 out of his tillfold and 75 cents from his pocket. He never missed it. I've been at this routine for three years now and it's amazing how quickly the dimes, quarters and dollars have mounted in my private bank account.

For a God-fearing woman who was raised in a decent home I am curiously immune to the pangs of conscience. I do not consider it stealing. If you wish to be analytical you might describe this behavior as "subconscious revenge."

If this is true, Ann, revenge is sweet. My bank account is growing along with my confidence and my personal dignity. The greatest satisfaction stems from the knowledge that my husband, with all his penny-pinching, hasn't saved a cent and I have a healthy bundle.

What do you think of this? Right or wrong?—LIGHT FINGERED

Dear Light: Wrong. And all your fancy high-dalton's retortulation doesn't make it right. Of course it's rotten for a wife to have to beg for spending money and I don't blame you for being better. A wife is entitled to part of what her husband makes. And this is no hand-out. It's her due—for being a house-maker and a partner.

AROUND TOWN

The 62nd birthday of H. Vioran Arland was celebrated on Saturday with a family luncheon followed by open house to his many friends at his home on Abbott St. Mr. Arland, who first settled in Kelowna in 1907, was captain in the RFC during the First World War and a Flight Lieutenant in the RCAF in World War II.

SWINGING PARTNERS

By M. J. I.

Saturday night was party night in Vernon where the Stardust and the Ogopogos jointly sponsored their party in the Scout Hall. Bill Davidson of Kimberley called the dance and dancers attended from the various Valley clubs as well as Canoe, Kamloops and points in between. A buffet supper was provided by the hosts.

The monthly workshop and meetings were held in the Youth Centre Hall in Summerland and were well attended. There were two rounds chosen as there will not be a workshop in December. These are, for November, "Oh Boy" and "Linda Two Step" for December. Both are snappy little two-steps which the dancers are sure to enjoy and have proven very popular in the U.S. The Kelowna Wagon Wheelers were the hosts and provided a delicious buffet supper.

Saturday, Dec. 4 we again have two party night in the Valley. In the Winfield Hall, the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers will host their monthly party night with Vic Harris calling the dance and they will provide a buffet supper.

In Penitence, the Peach City Promenaders will host their party night in the School cafeteria with Ray Fredrickson of Summerland calling the

Rose A Gal Of Many Parts With An Ox's Constitution

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP)—

You have to have the constitution of an ox to do this job. Rosemary Scott, a former Toronto fashion model, runs a seven-member household and is secretary-treasurer of this Great Slave Lake town of 2,500.

Mrs. Scott is responsible for tax collection, public works and the council directs them to be done, and a monthly financial statement. She is also the town's peace officer, enforcing Hay River's 211 bylaws. Her salary is $150 a week.

The household part is easy, she says. A live-in housekeeper ensures meals are on the table for her four children (ranging in age from 18 months to 13 years) and her husband, assistant principal at Hay River Federal school.

It's the job that takes pep-patience and persistence.

"I'm in on all negotiations for sewer and water service which we're getting in next year. how the service is to be obtained and financed."

Mrs. Scott works a 3½-day week. She also attends the 50 council meetings a year, each of which lasts an average of three hours, and all council committee meetings.

A veritable encyclopedia of facts and figures, she was able to reel off insurance premiums for Hay River's vehicle fleet at one recent meeting.

"A woman in my job has to work twice as hard as men to justify her position as a man's world on the frontier," she says. "She can't throw tantrums."

A native of Saint John, N.B., Mrs. Scott worked as an RCAF

secretary at Goose Bay, Labrador. It was there that she developed an affection for the North. And it was there she met and married John Scott. When he was posted to Hay River 12 years ago, she took a part-time job with what was then an improvement district but which three years ago became a town.

Mrs. Scott likes the responsibility of administering the town's $500,000 budget and feels she can justify working instead of staying home.

"I think my kids are happier with me working than if I weren't."

"There's something about the job that's so challenging. I suppose what I say to myself is that I'm going to see this town run properly or else. It almost becomes an obsession."

TURNING POINT CAME AT TURNSTILE

She Just Lopped It Off TOPS

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Two years ago Mrs. Roland Ford, who is five feet tall, weighed 160 pounds and her measurements were 46-36-41.

"I hated to go out of the house. I felt like the fat lady in the circus. I wanted to crawl into a hole, but there was none big enough."

Then she began a "reduce or else" diet through a chapter of TOPS—take off pounds sensibly. Today, she's down to 150 pounds, her weight when she married 18 years ago, and measures 40-32-42.

"There is no secret to it. The only thing that will take weight off you is will power . . . to stop eating."

"We all try to convince ourselves that it's not overeating, but that's what it is."

The turning point for Mrs. Ford came in Atlantic City, when she couldn't get through a turnstile to see an exhibit. A small boy asked her, "What's the matter lady, don't you want to go in?"

A year later, she won the TOPS queen of the year award for Maryland for reducing to 150 pounds. Last Sunday, she reached 150

Chicago Regains Share Of Top In National League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bobby Hull returned to Chicago Black Hawks lineup Wednesday night after a four-game absence due to an injured left knee and didn't have any trouble getting back into the points column.

Although he didn't score any goals, Hull set up three markers as Chicago dealt the Bruins a 4-3 defeat in one of two scheduled National Hockey League games.

Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers tied 2-2 in the other game.

The Hawks' victory, only the fifth home against five defeats and a tie, moved them into a deadlock for top spot in the NHL standings with Montreal Canadiens.

The Bruins got off to an early lead in the first period when Murray Oliver took a pass from behind the net by John Bucyk and beat Chicago netminder Glenn Hall with a five-footer. Kenney Wharram evened the count with less than two minutes remaining in the opening frame when he drove a 15-footer past Boston netminder Bernie Parent for his sixth of the season.

BOUNCES OFF SKATE

Doug Mohns and Doug Jarrett put the Hawks on top 2-1 in the second period before Bucyk's pass in front of the Hawks' net bounced off Chicago defence.

Pat Stapleton's skate and into the goal. Chico Maki concluded the Chicago scoring in the final period. Boston was forced to play without injured defencemen Leo Boivin, Ted Green and Al Langlois. In their places were rookie Barry Ashbee, minor leaguer Dallas Smith and Ed Westfall, moved back from right wing.

Parent, Boston's rookie netminder, made several spectacular saves, despite the fact that he suffered an injury to one of the fingers on his right hand in the first period while smothering a shot from close in by Hull. The Hawks fired 43 shots at the 20-year-old Parent.

The third-period goals by George Armstrong and Eddie Shack earned the Leafs a tie with the Rangers.

It extended the Rangers' win-

BOBBY HULL ... pace Hawks

less streak to four games, during which they have shored the opposition with 158 shots but managed only six goals.

Jean Ratelle and Earl Ingebrigtsen gave New York a 2-0 first-period lead.

New York carried the lead into the third period before Armstrong's best rookie goal.

Shack, a former Ranger recalled from Rochester Americans of the American League several weeks ago, tied it with his fifth goal of the season at 5:34.

New York dominated the first period, firing 18 shots at Toronto netminder Johnny Bower, while the Maple Leafs managed just six at Giacomin.

The Rangers kept the pressure on the 41-year-old goaltender the rest of the way as both teams spent most of their time in the Toronto end of the rink.

Defenceman Bill Gadabry of Detroit Red Wings is to undergo surgery for a removal of a cyst on the back of his right leg and will be out of the lineup for a month, the club announced Wednesday.

Gadabry, 35, playing in his 36th NHL season, will enter hospital today. The operation date is yet to be decided.

The loss is a crippling blow for the city for the league's only Red Wings, defending league scheduled game.

Baseball's Winter Meeting Being Stifled By Inactivity

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Frustrated major league executives continued their attempts today to break a deadlock which has stifled trading at the annual winter meetings.

"Everything is all blocked up," said Bobby Bragan, manager of Atlanta Braves. "None of the trades so far has helped anybody."

"I don't know what it is going to take to get something going," said Bragan, who has been trying to acquire a relief pitcher. Bill Rigney, manager of California Angels, also was getting anxious.

"Something's got to give," Rigney said. "I still think there are going to be some trades made here."

No major sweeps have been made since baseball officials gathered last Sunday for the minor league meetings at Fort Lauderdale. A few trades of veterans were made Wednesday on the eve of the opening of the major league convention.

The trades sent Houston pitcher Jack Lamabe to Chicago White Sox; outfielder Dave Nicholson of the White Sox to the Colts' Oklahoma City farm club; San Francisco Giants' outfielder Maitty Alou to Pittsburgh for Pirate pitcher Joe Gibbon.

Totems, Leafs Gain Victories

By THE CANADIAN PRESS Victoria Maple Leafs continued their dominance of the Western Hockey League Wednesday night by scoring a solid victory over Springfield, touring American League club.

It was a dismal end to a Western League tour by the Indians, who didn't win a game. They played four in six nights.

In other WHL action, San Francisco scored four times in the third period to defeat Seattle 5-2.

In Victoria, the road weary Indians didn't have a chance as the high-flying Leafs scored goal after goal.

John Sheavens scored two and the others came from Fred Hucul, Gordie Redahl, Bob Barlow, Claude Labrosse, Dick Lamoureux and Dave Parenteau.

Bill Sweeney, Howie Monari and Brian Smith replied for Springfield.

In San Francisco, the victory moved the Seals within three points of third-place Vancouver. The teams played through the most two periods of hockey before a goal was scored. Wayne Connelly picked up two and Ron Shook, Larry McNabb and Ron Harris one each for San Larry Lund and Les Hunt scored for Seattle.

Collegiate Football League In Offing For Centennial

TORONTO (CP)—Television interests and college officials have started discussing a national, interlocking collegiate football league scheduled for 1967.

Details of a meeting here last Friday of 10 Canadian university athletic directors and representatives of the CTV television network were given Wednesday.

But confirmation from television or athletic sources was not.

"It is not a fait accompli," said Warren Stevens, athletic director of the University of Toronto. "Somebody presented a proposal at the meeting and it is still under consideration."

John Metras, coach of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs, London, said there had been a meeting and talks centred on "a super league," but any announcement of it is premature.

Both universities are included in the proposed 10-team league made up of five teams from the West and five from the East.

From the West are the universities of British Columbia, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, one each from Edmonton and Calgary.

The Eastern Division would be made up of the four existing teams of the Ontario - Quebec Intercollegiate Athletic Association and St. Francis Xavier at Antigonish, N.S. The four O-QIAA teams are the universities of Toronto, Western Ontario, McGill and Queen's.

Backing the teams is the CTV network of 12 private stations. They have guaranteed $100,000 each year for five years to pay for promotional travel expenses and all costs over and above regular costs.

Television coverage would range over an eight-week period with one game being televised each week plus the championship game between the two division winners.

TRAIL (CP)—Trail Smoke Eaters broke their eight-game losing streak in fine style Wednesday night with a 4-1 win over Nelson Maple Leafs, Western International Hockey League leaders.

Trail scorers were Pinoko McIntyre, Sid Gallimore, Dave Russell and Garry Ferro. Mike Laughton replied for the Leafs.

Barry Brown, playing his first game for Trail after being released by Nelson only a few days ago, came back to haunt his former teammates in making 40 saves.

Nelson's Jim Leitcher, who played with the Leafs last season, handled 24 shots.

Hull's Three Assists Tighten Scoring Race

Bobby Hull, Chicago's star left winger, returned to action Wednesday night after a four-game absence due to an injured left knee and picked up three assists to bring his season points total to 24 in the National Hockey League individual scoring race.

Hull has a league-leading 15 goals and nine assists and is two points behind Bobby Rousseau of Montreal Canadiens, who holds the lead with 26 points, including a league-leading 15 assists.

Stan Mikita of Chicago picked up an assist Wednesday night and remains in third spot in the scoring with 22 points. He is followed by Jean Beliveau of Montreal who has 19 points.

Rhodesia Plans To Sustain
It's Vital Tobacco Industry

SALISBURY (Reuters)—Rhodesia said today it had passed a plan to sustain the country's vital tobacco industry, threatened by sanctions and embargoes following last month's seizure of independence.

Agriculture Minister Lord

Graham said the plan had been formulated by a special committee set up after Ian Smith's government broke away from Britain Nov. 11.

He told the opening of the fifth annual congress of the Rhodesian Tobacco Association here he would not reveal details of the plan because "our enemies would find something else that they think would bring us to our knees."

The £35,000,000 (£105,000,000) tobacco industry is a key part of Rhodesia's economy.

Britain bought half of the crop before announcing a ban on Rhodesian imports last month.

Dying
Cost Up

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario residents can expect further increases in the already high cost of dying, the legislature's select committee on aging was told Tuesday.

George W. Dods, director of the Ontario Funeral Service Association, said that within the last few days he has received letters from two coffin manufacturers that their prices will increase this week.

Mr. Dods, of Orangeville, Ont., said the amount of the increase was not mentioned in the letters. But a Toronto undertaker said he thought it might be five per cent. The proposed increase follows another 18 months ago, he said.

The news of the price rise came after officials of the association said undertakers are not wholly responsible for the high cost of dying.

Undertakers see to coffin arrangements in funeral preparations and burial, but the public thinks the cost of cemetery plots, opening and closing the grave and aftercare are part of the cost of the funeral, the officials said. But it is not. The problem arises because undertakers usually take care of these services, pay the cemetery in advance and add this amount to their own charges.

SUGAR COSTS CLIMB

Refined sugar rose by two pence (about three cents) a pound to one shilling (15 cents) today to become the first household commodity to be affected by both tightening restrictions imposed since independence.

South Africa is expected to be the first country to benefit from Rhodesia's cancellation of preferential tariffs on imports from Britain, trade sources here said.

Last year imports from Britain were worth £33,000,000 (£99,000,000) or more than 25 per cent of the total, and those from South Africa about £28,000,000 (£74,000,000).

Opening lead — queen of spades.

There is usually not much difference in playing a hand well and playing a hand perfectly, but that slight difference does occasionally have a decisive effect on the result.

South was in four hearts and West led a spade, taken with the ace. Realizing that he had four losers, one of which had to be avoided to make the contract, South decided to place his faith in the club suit. He hoped to build up an extra club trick by leading a low club from dummy towards the queen on the assumption that East had the king.

In line with this he therefore played the king of hearts, planning to enter dummy later with a trump for the first club lead towards his hand, and again later with another trump so that he could discard a loser on the ace of clubs.

This method of play would have worked out well except that East ducked the king of hearts in order to deny South an extra entry to dummy. As a result of this play, South went down one, losing a trick in each suit.

However, South could have made the contract against any defense if at trick two he had led the seven of hearts to the nine instead of leading the king. Had he done this, he could not have been stopped.

Let's assume that East takes the nine with the ace and returns a spade. In that case South wins the spade, plays the eight of trumps to the ten, and returns a low club which loses to the king. The defense can now cash its spade, but South makes the contract, after cashing the queen of clubs, by entering dummy with his carefully preserved three of hearts and discarding a diamond on the ace of clubs.

East cannot foil declarer by refusing to take the nine of hearts. South simply plays a low club from dummy and the outcome is exactly the same.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

A.M. hours will be best for routine, but the afternoon may turn out to be surprisingly "different" in that you may have some unexpectedly pleasant dealings with executives, others in authority or even with a person whom you greatly admire. A new opportunity may be presented but, even though it makes you happy, study it carefully.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that the next three weeks will encompass a period in which it would be well to grasp every available opportunity to impress superiors with your abilities, since a display of ingenuity and enterprise then will not only bring fairly immediate rewards, but will be reflected in further job advances during late January and throughout May and September. Creative workers will find the entire year unusually generous from a planetary standpoint, with notable accomplishment indicated in June.

With the exception of brief periods in May and June, when some stress may be present, personal relationships—especially those of a domestic or sentimental nature will be under fine aspects. The romantic can look for auspicious periods in mid-January, early April, early May and late August. Best period for travel: July 24 through September 30.

A child born on this day will be endowed with the gifts to make an excellent business executive, jurist or journalist.

FRANCE'S PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Dedicated To Grandeur De Gaulle Likely Winner

President de Gaulle is expected to win re-election in voting next Sunday. In this story, Canadian Press reporter Peter Buckley outlines the career of the eminent Frenchman who is dedicated to the restoration of his country's glory.

By PETER BUCKLEY

PARIS (CP) - To his frustrated opponents, he is King Charles, champion of the "Rule of personal power."

In his own eyes, Charles de Gaulle is France.

It is up to the French voters, who support countless political parties and philosophies, to decide whether they want the eminent French general as head of state for another seven years, or whether one of five opposing candidates for the presidency offers a better future for France.

All indications point to a clear victory for de Gaulle, the tall, gloomy, almost legendary figure in the Elysee Palace. In whatever role the individual voter may see him, de Gaulle is likely to receive the support of as many as 60 per cent of the voters on polling day. A candidate must obtain more than 50 per cent of the votes to win.

The wartime Free French leader says there is no choice for the electors. "Frank and massive" support for his candidacy, de Gaulle maintains, the country would fall into anarchy and ruin without him.

DISPERSED COUNTRYMEN

If many of his listeners applied his words, it is because in the eyes of millions of Frenchmen he is still the man who rebuilt the republic during the years of Nazi occupation and again when the Algerian independence movement threatened to destroy France.

Others who are less enthusiastic about General de Gaulle undoubtedly will vote for him because the alternatives may seem even less attractive.

To the Western allies, de Gaulle is frequently an enigma at best, an unmanageable tyrant at worst. Many Frenchmen, particularly the intellectuals, seriously share the allies' concern, and express the gravest alarm over the current drift of French diplomacy.

Nevertheless, de Gaulle seems almost certain to be re-elected president. Because they cannot ignore him, France's allies are being forced to look again at the man and his history in an attempt to understand the support he commands.

Charles Andre Joseph Marie de Gaulle, 75 years old Nov. 22, climbed steadily - some would say irresistibly - towards the leadership of France.

Born in Lille and educated at St. Cyr, the French military academy, he was a First World War hero, a captain wounded three times and held prisoner by the Germans despite five escape attempts.

QUIT POLITICS

After the war, he moved up in the military establishment, developing and publishing his theories of French defence and seeing them largely ignored. In May, 1940, after leading several engagements against German forces, he was made a general and three weeks later became deputy defence minister, a brief appointment.

With France about to collapse, de Gaulle moved to London June 17, 1940. He took command of the Free French forces, heading the government-in-exile and later the first postwar French government.

When the Fourth Republic rejected his proposals for a constitution limiting the powers of the National Assembly and conferring greater authority on the president, de Gaulle retired in January 1946, to his home outside Paris, at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises.

Historians have since said he fully expected to be summoned back, and that his retirement was a bluff which he lived to regret bitterly.

Politicians of the Fourth Republic wrangled and coalition succeeded coalition in political chaos for 17 years.

Although de Gaulle kept off the stage, his prestige remained high. When the Algerian dispute brought threats of a military takeover of Paris, the towering general was summoned by politicians on all sides to begin his rescue operation.

De Gaulle returned in 1958, extracting promises of constitutional reform and, in effect, the end of the National Assembly's real powers to govern France.

SHUNNING AMBIGUITY

Since then, despite the appearance of parliamentary government, de Gaulle has ruled France almost alone, turning to the French people in more than 600 public appearances.

Liberal Leader Handed $250 Fine

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP)

Ontario Liberal Leader Andrew Thompson was convicted today of dangerous driving and fined $250 plus costs of $11.10, or a month in jail.

A charge of impaired driving was dismissed. Charges of careless driving and failing to share the road were adjourned until Feb. 7 at the request of defence counsel, J. J. Robbette.

Thompson was charged after a two-car collision here Oct. 6.
The driver of the second car,
Mrs. Dora Sandercock of Harwood, Ont., testified earlier she was westbound on Highway 26 when Thompson's car "pulled over to my side."

She said Thompson's vehicle pulled from a line of traffic and kept coming directly at her.
She braked her car and pulled to the shoulder of the road.

Shoplifting Popular Says FBI Report

WASHINGTON (AP) - The

FBI reported Wednesday that shoplifting is the fastest growing form of larceny in the United States, having increased 83 per cent in the last five years. Police last year recorded 184,473 shoplifting cases involving stolen goods worth almost $5,000,000. Most shoplifters are women, the FBI said.

a half-dozen referendums for support on major issues which he declined to seek from the assembly.

Although full prosperity eluded him—the French economy has shown signs of a slowdown—de Gaulle meant peace and stability for the French.

His contempt for most old-time politicians and the party system is reported to be without bounds. He is determined to end the powers of the parties, believing they can only lead to political anarchy.

Hardly a student of de Gaulle has failed to remark on the man's sense of history and his unshakable belief that he was meant to be the embodiment of France and to lead her to greatness.

At the last of Europe's wartime leaders still in harness, he takes a longer view of world affairs. He appears to carry in his mind the whole panorama of French history and its le-sons of world figures. And he wants French glory restored.

Combined these thoughts form the "politique de grandeur"— the "policy of greatness"— which has become his byword for example, he believes France could fail in her civiliz-ing mission if she lost her identity in a United States of Europe. Therefore, the Common Market must be restrained or the "Europeans" will eliminate the essence of France's personality.

LOOKS TO FUTURE
Blind allegiance to United States policies for Europe, from the Gaullist viewpoint, ignores the fact that the U.S. may not always be so concerned with Europe in years to come.

Therefore, France must have an independent nuclear "force de frappe" and her military structure must not be reduced in the NATO homogenizing machine.

The French for all their viciousness and intelligence, are firmly self-centred as a nation.
And there are many in France who ardently support this role for their country, reciting the "no-nolism" they feel is being practised by such neighbors as Germany and Britain toward the U.S.

But de Gaulle's critics, aghast contend he is neglecting international social and economic reforms to finance hollow international manoeuvring and that traditional allies are being reduced to impatient hostility.

Most of all, the opposition is unable to forgive the de Gaulle manner—aloof, mysterious, autoritarian, convinced beyond discussion of his own niche in history, intolerant of criticism.

Having summoned the people to support him, he has used hardly any of the television and radio time allotted to him as a candidate.

His most faithful supporters in the National Assembly, the Union for the New Republic (UNR), have been ordered to keep the party out of it. His support must appear to be non-partisan.

The French people, presumably, know by now whether they want de Gaulle or "chaos." He will not tell them again.

Salmon Arm In New District Set Up To Govern Services

VICTORIA (CP)—Letters patent for three regional districts set up to govern combined services in the East Kootenay, Central Kootenay and Columbia-Shuswap regions were approved by the cabinet today.

Directors in each of the three areas were appointed to hold office until Jan. 31, 1967. First elections are scheduled in December 1966.

The cities of Cranbrook, Fernie and Kimberley and villages of Chapman Camp, Invermere, Marryville, Natal and Sparrow are included in the East Kootenay district.

The appointed directors will meet for the first time at Cranbrook Dec. 15.

The Central district includes the city of Nelson, where the first meeting is scheduled Dec. 13, and the villages of Castlegar, Creston, Kamsel, Kinross, Nakama, New Denver, Salmon and Shesna.

The Columbia-Shuswap district takes in the city of Revelstoke, the villages of Golden and Salmon Arm and the district of Salmon Arm.

Directors there will meet Dec. 15 at Revelstoke.

The letters stipulate the appointed directors in each area will have no more than an aggregate total of $15,000 to work with during their 1965-66 term.

The directors, a representative from each member council, were given the power to hold and dispose of real and personal property and to contract to undertake work in any member area on agreement with that area.

The East Kootenay district was divided into seven electoral areas with a director from each with a voter unit population of 2,500.

The Central district was carved into 11 electoral areas with 11 directors and the Columbia-Shuswap into four with four directors.

The letters did not set out any specific services the regional boards would govern, but stipulated that member municipalities would derive throughout their representatives.

Usual fields such as water, refuse, parks, planning, sewage and water.

Canada Content With Setup For Nuclear Arms Control

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is content with its arrangements with the United States which govern custody and control of American nuclear warheads at two RCAF bases in West Germany, officials say.

They say that the physical, mechanical and electronic devices involved in these arrangements, which also apply to other NATO nations in Europe, including West Germany, make absolutely certain that nobody can fly around with a nuclear bomb aboard.

Officials here are still scratching their heads over a recent Washington report "discussing" that nuclear warheads are mounted on West German Starfighter bombers.

In Sept. 28, 1962, U.S. Defense Secretary Robert McNamara said at a Washington press conference on his return from Europe:

"We stopped at the 50th U.S. Fighter Wing which maintains a constant strip alert of U.S. fighter aircraft loaded with, in this case, both nuclear and non-nuclear munitions."

"We visited the 33rd German Fighter Wing, also equipped with aircraft on the strip alert. In this case also loaded with nuclear warheads; these, of course, being in the custody of the U.S. custodial personnel."

60-KILOTON BOMBS

American nuclear warheads of up to 60 kilotons—the equivalent of 60,000 tons of TNT—have been stored at the Zweibrücken and Baden-Söllingen RCAF bases since last year.

They are firmly in the custody and control of American personnel and can be used only on the authority of the U.S. president.

Canada can decide on its own not to use the weapons, but it cannot decide on its own to use them.

Like the West Germans, the RCAF also flies Starfighters—six squadrons from these two bases.

A certain number of Starfighters at each base are on what is known as quick action alert. This status is necessary because the planes would have to get into the air quickly in an emergency to avoid being destroyed on the ground.

The planes on quick action alert are in "pens" whose doors must be opened before they can get out. The pens and the planes are under armed guard. The pilots stay near the aircraft but not in them.

The nuclear bombs are hung under the planes but they are not armed. Various mechanical and electronic devices which can be operated only by the U.S. custody teams and the U.S. nuclear officer are among the safeguards which prevent, say, a madman taking off with a live nuclear bomb.

Authorities said exactly the same arrangements apply to West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium and other NATO countries with bilateral nuclear agreements with the U.S.

Informants said that besides all these safeguards there is another which is perhaps even more significant.

This is that West Germany, for one, has no access to nuclear weapons of sufficient range to reach Russia. The Starfighter, for instance, has a range of only 500 miles.

France, Soviet Ally On TV

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Russia today transmitted a color television program by satellite to France for the first time.

The Soviet news agency Tass said the transmission, using the French secam color system, followed a series of technical try-outs through Molniya-1, the first of the Soviet Union's two communications satellites now in orbit.

France and Russia announced plans for a space co-operation agreement at the end of a visit here earlier this month by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville.

The announcement stirred speculation the two countries might be aiming at a joint satellite communications project.

The French secam color TV system has been accepted by Russia and other Communist countries for use in Eastern Europe in preference to rival U.S. and West German systems.

Today's Moscow-Paris hookup opens possibilities of color TV systems being bounced across the European-Asian land mass from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast.

Observers here believe that if France and Russia continue their co-operation in this field, they would form a formidable partnership, especially in view of the new French satellite launched last week.

France also is sharing in the American commercial communications satellite, Early Bird operated by the Communication Satellite Corp.

Canada Rejects Russian Demand

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has rejected Russia's demand for the extradition of Harold Puntilis of Willowdale, Ont., on war criminal charges, an external affairs department spokesman said today.

The Soviet request was turned down on two grounds—Canada has no extradition treaty with Russia and the Soviet charges against Puntilis were not substantiated.

The Soviet news agency Tass said June 11 that Puntilis led a Nazi-collaborating detachment which shot 47 persons in a Latvian village in 1942. Puntilis went to Sweden in 1943 from his native Latvia and came to Canada in 1948.

Morocco's King Pays Bonn Visit

BONN (Reuters)—Morocco's King Hassan II arrived here by air from Rabat Monday at the start of a one-week state visit to West Germany.

Seven Killed In Train Crash

BEGRAD (AP)—Seven persons were killed Monday when a passenger train crashed into a freight train south of Ljubljana, Radio Belgrade reported.
